Description

Ha O Mek Ka (Mayan phrase meaning "The continuity of the start without end") is a sustainable project located in the small community of Tzajalá, Chiapas. In the project you may find traditional jewelers, sale of organic coffee and projects such as experimental agroecological farms.

Ha O Mek Ka is a place where people live in community, where everyone works and learns about topics such as nutrition (preparation of natural food which is mainly vegetarian and from local products), herbal medicine (gardening, medicinal tinctures, preparation of ointments), horticulture (orchards), preparation of compost and vermicompost, promoting the use of dry toilets, canning of fruits, caring for domestic animals (chickens), conservation of plants and seeds, bee-keeping and mushroom cultivation. Everything is done from the holistic view of respecting and protecting the environment, promoting integration with those of the cooperative. Ha O Mek Ka is composed of people from different backgrounds with the ideology of living together in harmony. This is not an indigenous community, but you will find different activities such as sweat lodges "(prehispanic steam bath), traditional dances, documentaries, workshops and more.

Activities

Volunteers will work about five hours per day Monday to Friday. The time of year, the local climate and the needs of the project will determine the activities to be carried out, some of which may be related to: creating growing beds, vegetables, fertilizers, agro-ecology, beekeeping, use of medicinal plants, conservation of organic products, compost, and vermicompost. During their free time, volunteers can learn other crafts, swim in a river or hike to a nearby waterfall.

Accommodation:

Volunteers will stay in dormitories and use dry toilets, Do not forget your sleeping bag and/or a mosquito net. Volunteers will have hot water and kitchen.

Food

The project provides three meals a day in standard quantities (300 grams per serving). Any additional amounts must be covered by the volunteer. Special dietary requirement must be informed before volunteering.

Transportation

The participation fee only covers the transportation from Natate's offices to the project. The project ends in this community and it is the volunteer's responsibility to travel from there to their next destination.

Location

The project is located in Tzajala, an hour and a half from San Cristobal de Las Casas. It is idyllically situated in a subtropical valley surrounded by lush vegetation and a nearby river.

Airport

The nearest airport is Angel Albino Corzo International Airport (TGZ) in the city of Tuxtla Gutierrez, Chiapas. There are flights from Mexico city and Cancun. From the airport in Tuxtla Gutierrez volunteers may take a taxi or travel by bus to San Cristobal de las Casas, where Natate's offices are located.

Language

English is the official language in this project, however, a basic level of Spanish would be ideal, (although not strictly required). Volunteers who want a higher level of Spanish may enroll in an intensive Spanish course at Instituto Cultural La Casa En El Arbol, language school. For more information: www.lacasaenelarbol.org or info@lacasaenelarbol.org

Requirements

According to the project's philosophy, volunteers interested in participating in this project must: show interest in sustainable development and environmental practices; adapt to a healthy lifestyle oriented to a mainly vegetarian diet prepared in group (food includes: bread, rice, vegetables, egg and cheese); follow the rules concerning the prohibition of alcohol and tobacco within the premises; have an open mind about the spiritual customs practiced by some members of the community (the volunteers' participation is not mandatory, however, the Temazcal and meditations can be healthy and heighten the experience of your stay).

Ha O Mek Ka offers extra workshops with costs that are not included in the participation fee, such as; soap-making, jewelry and other crafts. Ha O Mek Ka is not an indigenous community, and work to be done is not social in nature. In this community you will experience an alternative way of living. The project is located in the midst of lush vegetation so you will find many insects.

Participation Fee

3,100 MXN. Natate does not receive funding from any external sources, private or public. We operate solely with the participation fees from our volunteers. This fee includes application fees, orientation, follow-up, and accommodation for the duration of the project. If volunteers decide to stay in Ha O Mek Ka after the end of the workcamp, they may be required to pay additional fees.

Description of Workcamp: NAT-WCMP-15-03 Summer Camp 1 11-Jul 25-Jul KIDS/SPOR 10 +18 3,100 MXN

Description

As it is customary every year, Natate makes a call for all who are interested to participate in this summer camp where; educational and recreational activities are a fundamental part of the project. The camp will take place in the community of San José Ocotál, in the town of Teopisca, about 30 minutes from San Cristobal De Las Casas. In this community, most children do not have access to formal education, and often help their families with commercial or domestic activities. The main objective of this camp is to give these children an opportunity to learn and have fun in a multicultural environment.

Activities

Volunteers can be involved in the invitation to the children who will participate in the camp, making it more attractive to them and to the parents who may attend. According to the number of participants and their ages, they may be organized into groups to make it easier to carry out the activities. Some of the activities can be: teaching other languages (words, songs, games); artistic activities (workshops masks, painting, macramé, music); recycling (reusing waste to make other objects such as musical instruments); games (equipment, recreation, mental games); skills (construction, coordination), the final program of activities will be defined by the volunteers prior to the start of camp.

Accommodation and Food

Volunteers will stay in mixed, shared rooms and will sleep in bunk beds (it is important to bring with you a sleeping bag). They will have access to all basic services including hot water. Each volunteer will be responsible for washing their own clothes by hand. There is no internet access, but volunteers may bring their electronic devices for personal use. In some areas nearby there is cellular coverage,

ATMs and supermarkets. The project provides three meals a day in standard quantities (300 grams per serving). Any additional amounts must be covered by the volunteer. Special dietary requirement must be informed before volunteering.

Transportation and Location

The participation fee only covers the transportation from Natate's offices to the project. The project ends in this community and it is the volunteer's responsibility to travel from their to their next destination. The project is carried out in the town of Teopisca, at an altitude of 1.780 meters above sea level and 40 minutes from the city of San Cristobal de las Casas, Chiapas.

Airport:

The nearest airport is Angel Albino Corzo International Airport (TGZ) in the city of Tuxtla Gutierrez, Chiapas. There are flights from Mexico city and Cancun. From the airport in Tuxtla Gutierrez volunteers may take a taxi or travel by bus to San Cristobal de las Casas, where Natate's offices are located.

Climate

From May to October there is abundant rainfall and average minimum temperature of 6°C to 21°C, maximum 18°C to 33°C. From November to April: minimum average of 3°C to 15°C, maximum 15°C to 30°C.

Requirements and Language

The minimum age is 18 years of age. Volunteers must be ready to live within a small rural community without the amenities and services of a big city. They must enjoy working with children and be open to work in a community with a medium to high level of poverty. Volunteers must demonstrate responsibility, commitment, maturity, initiative, and adaptability. In the workcamp, the official language is English.

Additional Notes

During the season, it will be hot and it will rain a lot, therefore it is important to bring mosquito repellent and clothing that covers most of your body. Please remember to bring appropriate clothes, and to have proper behavior when in the presence of the people in the community, specially children. The place of where volunteers will stay doesn't offer a lot of commodities. Volunteers will stay in mixed and shared rooms, and will sleep on cots. Volunteers may contact Natate for an early proposal of topics, material and complementary activities in order to make the experience more enriching.

PROJECT: The objective of this project is to promote the education of children and teenagers in local communities. The Mexican education model needs to update responding to global changes, children and teenagers should receive a broader education that includes topics such as intercultural learning, globalization, and entrepreneurial culture, creating a project of life, foster ecological awareness, prevention and rejection of all forms of violence and anticorruption values. Mexico urgently needed this paradigm to shift in the education of children and teenagers, school dropouts due to lack of setting clear goals, many children wonder why they even go to school. To work against this, a selected group of students and teachers from Higher Education Institutions, have the motivation and the abilities to share their experience in those topics with children and teenagers knowledge, this is the 5th year this project is organized with excellent results since it has proven to awake awareness on children and teenagers. On the other hand, at the local region where the project takes place there are serious environmental problems that require immediate action. Pine tree species are in serious danger, and it's essential to increase reforestation goals and protect the flora, fauna and aquifers. This project is bidirectional, it benefits both children and teenagers from local communities and senior students and volunteers as well, creating opportunities for international coexistence for students, providing comprehensive training through the promotion of multiculturalism, language practice and human development. Encourage children and adolescents in the municipality of Morelia to follow an ecological culture, to design life projects, to have an entrepreneurial culture, as well as prevention and rejection of all forms of violence and corruption instill values through a program of activities where international volunteers and local students and teachers of the Instituto Tecnológico de Morelia are involved, creating an atmosphere of trust, multiculturalism, clear goals in life and global vision, also the project involves volunteers in activities of environmental care and preservation of green spaces.

WORK: The project work is organized in three parts:

1st. Integration training session, it will last three days, held at the institution between volunteers and students of the Technological Institute of Morelia.

2nd. Social Work Day, which lasts five days in Santiago Undameo municipality of Morelia, participating on teaching children and adolescents workshops about entrepreneurial culture, life projects, ecological awareness, prevention and rejection of all forms of violence or corruption. It is not necessary to speak Spanish because the methodology involves learning through games and activities and volunteers are always accompanied by senior students of the Instituto Tecnológico de Morelia and they will help to translate the international volunteers.

3rd. Reforestation Day and preservation of educational spaces, it will last for five days, planting and transplanting trees in the ecological reserve of Morelia and the institution.

There will be two Saturday trips organized by the institution in which the volunteers will visit nearby towns that offer different types of handcrafts, cuisine and a traditional atmosphere, such as: Pátzcuaro, Quiroga, Tzintzuntzan, Capula, Santa Clara del Cobre and visit Cuanajo atmosphere.

Working hours will be from 9:00am to 14:00pm.

PROJECT: We are looking for highly motivated volunteers that would like to take part in an important mission... To inspire humanistic development activities that can stand against apathy, low self-esteem and lack of youth engagement into the community. As a volunteer you will be able to develop recreational activities and sport activities as well. La Piedad, Michoacán is looking for international volunteers that want to take part in a Motivational Workcamp that stands against the lack of options for youth inclusion, lack of communication and dissemination of youth programs and youth shyness because they live in a rural community. While including activities along with international volunteers, we seek to give rise to a concern in youngsters to see the world, learn about other cultures, countries and ways of thinking. It is a program of the Local Youth Ministry, which has programs about solidarity development for youngsters who are living in one of the communities of La Piedad. International volunteers will participate as facilitators, being in contact and having fun with community youngsters through recreational, cultural and sport activities.

WORK: The volunteers will plant trees in specific areas of the community, help to clean the streets, repair damaged monuments and learn about the traditions of the community. The volunteers will organize talks about teamwork, leadership and how to create a life plan. Take part in movie nights along with youngsters from the local community, prepare games and inspire sport activities.

PLACE: La Piedad, known as the door north of Michoacan is located surrounding the shores of the Great or Lerma River , bordered to the north by the municipalities of Degollado and Ayotlan Jalisco ; small producing populations of quarry crafts and textiles. To the north is the city of Santa Ana Pacueco delegation belonging to the city of Penjamo, Guanajuato. To the east it borders the municipality of Numarán known for its tasty bread. To the south it borders the municipalities of Zináparo , Churintzio and Ecuandureo , and west with the municipality of Yurécuaro . La Piedad has many interesting and wonderful attractions among the sites is the main square with a magnificent stone kiosk, its portals, and the Sanctuary of the Lord of La Piedad. The dome of the latter is the largest in America and is among the three largest in the world. Besides the bridge Dug, a masterpiece of engineering of his time, also built in stone in the nineteenth century. At 17 km distance is the "El Salto" waterfall of about 21 meters high and 130 meters wide and is formed in the course of the Lerma River. A similar distance is a reserve known as "Cerro Grande" which has a magnificent forest from the foothills to the top. There are some urban parks like the "Morelos" park, Lazaro Cardenas park, known among piedadenses as "La Placa" or the local zoo. It has all the tourist services. The city is famous for its colorful shawls, woven loom pedals and spliced by hand, but also internationally renowned composer José Alfredo Jiménez, made it more with the song "The Black Dog". Also at about 6 km is the archaeological area of Zaragoza, where the culture flourished Guamares Chichimeca. There you can enjoy their pyramids and ball game. The piedadense nightlife is active and varied, especially on weekends. There are several places where you can dance rhythms and electronic music or band and bars.

LEISURE ACTIVITIES: During the weekend, the volunteers are able to visit some interesting places such as the Archaeological Sites Zaragoza, Plazuelas and more! Volunteers are welcomed to know the Hacienda Tequilera Corralejo (Tequila Ranch at Corralejo). Volunteers can also visit the beautiful Morelia City or go to El Salto Waterfalls.

HOSTING: Volunteers will be hosted in a particular house with all services at disposal: Hot Water, Electricity, Restrooms, Showers, Kitchen, Fridge, Laundry room, Safety Box and Wi-Fi connection.

- DIGITAL WORD, CODES FOR YOUR FUTURE..EXPANDING THE CYBERSPACE FOR CHANGE

The future and evolution of the digital world, in this workshop the participants exchange ideas of the possibilities and limitations of the new technologies, the advantages and disadvantages of the digital revolution.

- WORLD VALUES IN THE 21ST CENTURY.. YOUR OPINION SETS THE AGENDA
Workshop to speak about the values in the multicultural world, a space to exchange ideas about environment, human rights, global responsibility and the common points we can find within the diversity.

- YOUTH GOT THE POWER; CAN'T FIND A JOB? CREATE ONE!

- MEXICO IS MY FUTURE IF.. YOUTH SPEAK OUT!

Today as in many countries, Mexico is in a transition, more and more people express their interest to get involved in the political debate and the construction of the future. Join to this workshop to exchange ideas, opinions and experiences about what tools can be developed to make easier for young people to get involved and supported to make a commitment.

Participation in the hands-on activities of the 2nd W.Y.E Puebla 2015 such as:

- Helping to preserve the World Heritage through cleaning some ancient fountains in the Historical Centre of Puebla.

- To paint some buildings painted with graffiti and to paint a mural with a message for the youth.

- To create a campaign with a positive message for the youth in Puebla. (All your ideas are welcome!)

- To participate in a reforestation campaign.

- To participate in a flash MOB (to participate in the preparation and execution).

- To participate in working groups to create a declaratory about what youth expects in the future years.

For this project we are asking for young people that:

- Are interested to participate in a wide range of activities.

- Are proactive, creative and flexible.

- Are eager to make hundreds of new friends from all over the world!

LOCATION: Legend has it that once the building of Our Lady of the Immaculate Conception Cathedral came to a close, right on the heart of the city of Puebla, the question of how to raise an 18,000 pound bell to the top of its towers (the highest ones in Latin America) came about. This question caused sleepless nights for the engineers and construction workers. It looked like an impossible task.

However, one morning, the city of Puebla awoke to the news that the bell was already atop of the tower, pealing with joy. "But who took it up there and how?" everyone was asking. And since it looked like a miracle, no one doubted that angels probably had come down to raise the bell to what is its resting spot since then.

This legend is the reason this beautiful city is known as Puebla de los Angeles. However, there are many other reasons to assure that its streets, views and specially, its flavors, are full of a heavenly sense.

Nestled in the middle of Mexico, under the imposing view of the Popocatepetl and Iztaccihuatl volcanoes, Puebla opens its doors and boasts its official titles: It was named a "heroic" city for being the site where Mexican troops' defeated the French army in 1862 (Battle of Puebla); and it was also named a World Heritage Site by UNESCO in 1987.

Nevertheless, what makes this beautiful city most proud is its food, one of the most emblematic and delicious in Mexico. Known as the world's mole, chiles en nogada and chalupas capital, Puebla takes us close to paradise with deserts that can only be attributed to a heavenly creativity: sweet potatoes, the Santa Clara cakes, and the pecan and pine nut fudge are just the beginning of a long listing that could very well be accompanied with chubby cherubs' faces. If there is a word that defines Puebla, then it is baroque. Complex flavors that seduce our palates, elaborated shapes that capture our sight, an irresistible mix of legends and stories, winding streets, fountains, gardens, craft markets, artistic alleys, and a view studded with the churches' domes. So, it is not outrageous to think that Puebla is the place that angels call home. On their route towards Mexico City, the merchandise of ships arriving from the Philippines would first go through Puebla, which slowly but surely assimilated artistic expressions from the Far East. This characteristic is reflected on the beautiful talavera ceramic vases, pottery and the tiles that decorate facades in churches, big houses, fountains, patios and kitchens. Another example is the legend of the "China Poblana", an Indian princess that arrived as a slave on the Manila Galleon, and who designed for herself a beautiful dress embroidered with sequin, which today is Puebla's traditional dress.

LEISURE ACTIVITIES: Nicknamed "The Shrine of America" due to its architectural beauty, the city of Puebla was, according to legend, created and laid-out by angels, to be enjoyed by mortals. Visit its central streets among buildings, façades, gardens and balconies which reflect the history and the passing years. In the evening, go for a walk in the so called Angelopolis, which has a wide range of cafes, bars and nightclubs. Go to the Plazuela de los Sapos (Square of Toads) where you will enjoy a musical night to the sound of the traditional mariachi, enjoying the beauty of the place a must visit is to go to the Palafoxiana Library, the Cathedral of Puebla, the Casa de Alfeñique the Museum, City Hall, the Amparo Regional Museum and Cholula.

Description of Workcamp: VIVE11.15 Sustainable School Morelia 05/08-18/08 ENVI

PROJECT: Nowadays, the urban development has generated an important problem that caters especially the communities surrounding major cities and it is in these communities where food shortages, disorganized suburban development and lack of sustainable culture among the population has generated a social and economic conflict. It is very important for educational institutions that are located at the border of both parts (urban and suburban) such as the Technological Institute of the Valley of Morelia to work on possible solutions for the communities which they belong to. This project aims to raise international cooperation and community development in the region of "Valle de Morelia-Queréndaro", through the implementation of a handful of activities that promote environmental awareness and sustainable development.

WORK: As an introduction to the Workcamp, the international volunteers will receive basic training on the following topics: Home gardens, Management and use of organic waste (composting, manure solids and liquids), Ecological pots among other eco-techniques.

Then, the volunteers will carry out campaigns in the communities surrounding the institution (Tarimbaro, Álvaro Obregón, Cuitzillo, among others) in which is ecological awareness will be promoted along with community members with the tools designed by international volunteers and through activities as well like : Creating community gardens, Preparation of compost, Management and Waste separation, Recovery and beautification of public spaces, Reforestation, and more. It will be a goal to create impact within the institution as part of the activities undertaken within the Workcamp, so the volunteers will do some activities for the benefit of the institution including:

Maintenance of green areas, Classification and marking of the flora of the institution, Rehabilitation of common areas.

PROJECT: Let's get down to it! This project is looking for highly motivated volunteers to participate in the active life of Campus at the local School in Senguio Towns. This workcamp is about encouraging teamwork and creating an international cooperation environment. We are looking for international volunteers who want to share and increase their ecological awareness and inspire students and locals. International Volunteers who would like to share the exquisite cuisine of their countries, and have with children in different workshops and games.

WORK: The volunteers will take part in the following activities: You will team up with an Eco-group, which takes care of a handful of fun and helpful activities inside and outside the Campus. You will design an English conversation club within the students. Volunteers will collect clothes and food in the local community and in the school and will address the need of low-income communities. Since cultural sharing is important for everyone, as a volunteer you will take part in a traditional parade inside the community, to learn about its roots and magical stories. For example, 'the Mañanita Festival' where you can enjoy traditional Mexican food and folkloric music. Or taking part in a gastronomical demonstration, in which students and the international volunteers will work together and prepare some special dishes! You will also visit different primary schools and have small presentations about your country and things that you would like to share.

PLACE: The word Senguio Purepecha language means "borderline". Most likely to be located in what were the limits of two large prehispanic empires; the Purepecha or Tarascan empire and the Aztec or Mexica empire. People refer to as The Quiet Village Senguio. Senguio town stands on 26 April 1856. This place was inhabited by tribes mazahuas within the limits of two large prehispanic empires: the Purepecha or Tarascan empire and the Mexica or Aztec empire.

LEISURE: During the weekend, volunteers are able to visit different beautiful green places such as: Vivero de Árboles, Casco de Hacienda, a small chapel from the XVII. Have a tour in Tlalpujahuá, which is a really beautiful and magical town. Or you can always organize sporting events!

HOSTING: Volunteers will be hosted in a particular house with all services at disposal: Hot Water, Electricity, Restrooms, Showers, Kitchen, Fridge, Laundry room, Safety Box and Wi-Fi connection.

SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS: Comfortable Clothing, Sneakers, Sunscreen, Cap, Beach clothing, Sun glasses and Mosquito repellent.
