Description of Workcamp: Location: Mugstock festival is held at Mugdock Country Park near Milngavie, which is less than 10 miles from the center of Glasgow. This is an area of spectacular natural beauty and will be the perfect opportunity for volunteers to experience Glasgow and the surrounding countryside by coming to the festival. Please see below for details on how to get to the site.

Work: You joining will be to support our crew in building and taking down the festival. This will involve a lot of manual labour. It will be hard work, but you will be surrounded by amazing and friendly people, and we guarantee a great atmosphere. The festival takes place from 29th to 31st July, but as a thank you for your help setting up and taking down, you will be free to enjoy the weekend without being called upon to work. As a volunteer you will be part of either the production or décor team (or both). The production team will be involved in the practical aspects of building and taking down the physical things which help us put on a festival, such as marquees, fencing, lights and signs. The Décor team will be involved in making the site look beautiful. We will be creating large scale art works to decorate the site and the various venues. Both teams will mostly be working outdoors. The weather in Scotland could be cold and wet, or might be hot and dry & it is difficult to tell which!

Accommodation: Volunteers will stay on the site throughout the work camp. Tents will be provided by Xchange Scotland but we ask volunteers to bring sleeping bags, pillows and things that will make them comfortable in the tent.

Description of Workcamp: Location: Doune, Stirling, Scotland, Volunteers will be staying on the Cardross Estate, at the Port of Menteith in Stirlingshire. Located by the only lake in Scotland, Lake of Menteith.

Work: Volunteers will work to set up and break down the festival site. This will involve both constructing the various stands, tents and physical infrastructure of the site, but also more decorative tasks to give the site an amazing look and feel. On the first day you'll be building your own showers and the Yurts where you will be sleeping.

Volunteers will work the week before and after the festival but will not work during the festival itself, they will be free to enjoy the entire programme. This means that your weekend off will be one amazing big 3 day party, but that after it when a lot of other people are going home volunteers are going to need to keep on working.

Accommodation: Volunteers will stay on the site throughout the work camp. Tents will be provided by Xchange Scotland but we ask volunteers to bring sleeping bags, pillows and things that will make them comfortable in the tent.
