ACCOMODATION/FOOD:

Accommodation and food: Guest house / local restaurant

LOCATION:

Location and leisure: Bergama is the 999th UNESCO WORLD HERITAGE. It is currently known for its cotton, gold and fine carpets and was the ancient Greek and Roman cultural center of Pergamon. The wealth of ancient ruins continues to attract considerable tourist interest today, although its famous Temple has been moved to the Pergamon Museum in Berlin, Germany. Located on a promontory north of the Bakircay River, 26 km inland from the Aegean Sea, Bergama has a population of about 102,000. The ruins of the ancient city of Pergamon lie to the north and west of the modern city; Roman Pergamon is believed to have sustained a population of approximately 150,000 at its height in the 1st century AD.

Among Bergama's notable ruins are the Sanctuary of Asclepius (or Asclepeion), a temple dedicated to an ancient Greek god of healing, a Greek Theater, and the Red Basilica complex (Kızıl Avlu in Turkish) that straddles the Selinus River, a 2nd-century AD construction likely built by Hadrian. The town also features an archaeological museum..
